

Gasfin is a modern project development company for LNG (Liquefied Natural Gas) solutions. We provide customized LNG infrastructure to enable small and mid-scale gas markets to access the global LNG supply chain. We develop mid-scale greenfield projects for LNG production, distribution and regasification. Gasfin provides customized infrastructure overall project management from initial concept through design, permitting, financing, delivery, supply and operations.

We are looking for a

Bachelor / Master working student in marketing, media- or communication sciences (m/f/d) SEO / GoogleAds

for our Bonn office.

What can you expect?

- Conception and development of activating and informative texts for our website and creation of social media presences with a focus on LNG project development.
- Linguistic and content optimisation of the textual appearances.
- Planning, researching, writing and publishing SEO-optimised and target-group-specific content for website and social media presences
- Support in the development, implementation and optimisation of online marketing campaigns (Google Ads, etc.).
- Market analyses and keyword research as well as the implementation of numerous marketing activities
- Advised timeframe is between 4 and 6 months

What should you bring along?

- You are currently studying marketing, media or communication sciences or a comparable course of study.
- You have impeccable English skills, textual confidence and a very good feeling for language.
- You enjoy working with texts and language and have an affinity with our main topic, the energy industry.
- You have a hands-on attitude and like to support your team wherever you can.
- You show initiative as well as entrepreneurial thinking and acting.

What do we offer you?

- An exciting topic in the energy industry with very current relevance
- The opportunity to design something of your own on a real task and to put it into practice
- Flat hierarchies and an open culture
- An international team with great experience
- Flexible working hours
- A wonderful office in the Südstadt district of Bonn

If you are interested, please email your application to peter.koerner@gasfin.net.